Subscriptions: One year, $3; one month, 25 cts.; single copy, 1 cent.

Members of the Publishers' Press.—The latest telegraphic news from all parts of the world are received by the Daily Times up to the hour of going to press.

Frank E. Langley, Publisher.

Published Every Weekday Afternoon.

Entered at the postoffice at Barre as second class matter.

TUESDAY, OCTOBER 20, 1903.

The average daily circulation of the Barre Daily Times for the week ending Saturday was copies, the largest paid circulation of any daily paper in this section.

2,930

"Times, of Course"

That's what all the newsboys say when asked which Barre paper sells the best. There is no doubt about it.

It was a Goddard day yesterday.

A little practice with the new hook and ladder truck would not be amiss.

John Alexander Dowle, alias "Elijah the Prophet," alias "Elijah the Second," alias "Elijah the Restorer," alias "Overseer of the Christian Catholic Church in Zion," is not meeting with particularly marked success in New York city. A mere man weighed down with those aliases could hardly expect to meet with success. But a greater hindrance is the fact that while Dowle lives in luxury he compels his abjectly meek followers to live in the barest sustenance. That sort of thing does not go with the public.

Another notable historic event properly commemorated—the battle of Plattsburg on Lake Champlain. Last Saturday the Saranac Chapter, D. A. R., unveiled a tablet at Plattsburg which will perpetuate the memory of McDonough's famous victory over the British in Cumberland Bay on September 11, 1814, and the victory of the American land-forces, at the same time. This custom of marking historic spots and commemorating important events is an admirable one, and it is pleasing to note that the custom is growing in favor recently. Else we shall too soon lose track of these important events.

The Times notes with pleasure what was evidently a fair-minded consideration of the recent riot in this city, on the part of the Ludlow Tribune last week. Too many of the newspapers have been hasty in forming conclusions on the occurrence and the representatives of some metropolitan papers have been over-zealous in casting opprobrium on the city of Barre for it. And even The Tribune is led into error when it says that in addition to the injuries of the man who was mortally wounded, "deadly wounds were dealt to a dozen Italians" in the quarrel. The most that the local newspaper reporters, the police and those present at the trouble are able to vouch for is three, and that appears pretty near the truth. In fact the affair was not that terribly "bloody riot" which has been pictured. It was bad enough without classing it as that.

New Insects.

Dr. Frank Snow, with a small party of Kansas university students, has recently been bug catching in southwest Arizona. They brought back 15,000 specimens, of which some 100 are new to science. Of these 5,430 are beetles, 4,500 are flies, 1,025 are butterflies and moths, and the rest on the list are bees and wasps. The butterflies and moths were collected at night by spreading on a tree near the camp a mixture of beer and molasses.

No Fried Ham For Dwellers. The Dowle train en route to New York over the Pennsylvania railroad stopped at Altoona, Pa., long enough for breakfast the other morning, says the Philadelphia Public Ledger. Deacon Jasper Herman Depew, city clerk of Zion City, who had charge of the train; his wife, and personal staff went to the Logan House for breakfast. A waiter brought them, along with other things, a plate of delicious fried ham.

"Take it away!" cried Depew, attracting the attention of every one in the dining room. "Take it away, I say. It is unclean!"

Swine is prohibited in the Zionists' bill of fare because the Bible says it is unclean.

Great Place For Fiddles.

The great violin neighborhood is Markneukirchen, Saxony. In that town and vicinity there are about 15,000 people engaged exclusively in the manufacture of violins.

Notice.—We will have our fall opening Thursday, Oct. 22, but will do business just the same until then at our store in Currier's building. Veale & Knight.

ABOUT THE STATE.

Items of Interest Gleaned From Our Exchanges.

Misses Annie and Marjorie Ide of St. Johnsbury will sail Friday from San Francisco for Manila to join their father, H. C. Ide, of the Philippine commission. Miss Fannie Ide left Thursday for New York and sailed Saturday for London and Paris.

The committee of the Montpelier city council that has in charge the erection of a monument to the late Joel Foster, superintendent of the city water works after its installation, has decided to erect a statue in Green Mountain cemetery, as it can be procured for the amount of the appropriation.

Two of the largest shipments of merino sheep, bulls and mules that ever left Middlebury for South Africa were started Saturday. C. R. Witherell of Cornwall sent 68 merino sheep and 12 mules; J. A. Wright & Co. sent 60 merino sheep and 14 bulls. C. O. Church of Whiting will go with Mr. Witherell's shipment and Harley Cooke and Ted Huntley of Leicester Junction will have charge of J. A. Wright & Co.'s stock. They expect to sail from New York Thursday, October 29.

Frank Bushey, Jr., of Swanton, was seriously injured Saturday afternoon. Mr. Bushey was moving a barrel of oil in the cellar of his house, when he missed his hold and was pinned against the wall. His knee and ankle were badly injured. Mrs. Bushey immediately sent her eldest son and daughter to tell her father of the accident. The little girl while running along stepped on a broken bottle and cut the main cord of the heel. The child was taken home and a physician called who took several stitches in the child's heel. It is hoped the use of the heel may be saved.

JINGLES AND JESTS.

Punishment.
"What ails the porter?"
"His young daughter wines all the time, and he is going home to liquor."
—Princeton Tiger.

Cow Bells.
You jingle a bell,
And the cows follow tame.
You jingle some dollars,
And men do the same.
—Wall Street News.

One of the Delights.
"Why does she go to Europe so often?"
"For the joy of trying to bring things back free of duty."
—Chicago Post.

No Intimidation.

"Why, Freddie, that isn't the way. Constantinople is spelled in your geography."

"I know it ain't, but the geography's copyrighted."
—Chicago American.

Free Delivery For Zion City.
Arrangements for the coming introduction of free delivery at Zion City are progressing, says a Waukegan (Ill.) dispatch to the Chicago Inter Ocean. There are to be added to the force three letter carriers and one substitute carrier. There will be set up twenty-two street letter boxes and four package boxes. It is a rare thing for a new office to get free delivery within sixteen months of its opening, as is the case at Zion City.

A Sign of Wealth.
Americans import over $25,000,000 worth of precious stones every year.

Happy Mexicans.
More than half the people in Mexico are said to live without work.

QUEST FOR GOLD IN AN AUTO

New Method of Prospecting For Valuable Minerals.

A new method of prospecting for gold and other valuable minerals has been devised by Calvin Baker of Los Angeles, says the St. Louis Post-Dispatch. He recently started for the Mojave desert on a prospecting trip in an automobile of his own construction.

The machine is especially adapted for the business in hand. It carries an engine and machinery for rock drilling and earth excavating and is equipped with a 3,500 pound gasoline motor. Baker expects to be able, with the aid of his mobile machine, to accomplish the work in the prospecting line in a day that two men would ordinarily require one week to do. The machine is so constructed that it can climb mountains or traverse the desert sands with equal ease.

The Navy's Winter Maneuvers.
The navy department has notified the various bureaus that maneuvers will take place in the Caribbean sea next winter, and commanding officers have received orders to prepare for the work. The strategic problems or war game in which the vessels will take part will take place in February, after the drills in routine work and marksmanship have been finished. Rear Admiral A. S. Barker will be in command.

Texas Cattle.
It is said that Texas alone markets $50,000,000 worth of cattle annually.

IN OCTOBER DAYS.

A Portrait of Forest and Field by John Burroughs.

Now comes the sunset of the verdant year.
When chemic fires, still and slow,
Burn in the leaves till trees and groves appear
Dipped in the sunset's glow.

Through many stained windows of the wood
The day sends down its beams
Till all the sun punctured solitude
Of sunshine softly dreams.

I take my way where sentry cedars stand
Along the bushy lane,
And whitethroats stir and call on every hand
Or lift their wavering strain;

Where hazel bush holds up its crinkled gold
And scents the lingering breeze,
A nuptial wreath amid its leafage old
That laughs at frost's decrees.

A purple bloom is creeping o'er the ash,
Dull wine against the day,
While dusky cedars wear a crimson saff
Of woodbine's kindled spray.

I see the sturdy oak tree's smoldering fire
Soften against the emerald rye,
And yonder sugar maple's wild desire
To match the sunset sky.

On hedge and tree the bittersweet has hung
Its fruit that looks a flower;
While alder spray with coral berries strung
Is part of autumn's dower.

The plaintive calls of bluebirds fill the air,
Wandering by irresolute;
The ruby kinglet flitting here and there,
Fifteen now his elfin flute.

Now downy shyly drills his winter cell,
His white chips strewn the ground,
While squirrels bark from hill or acorned dell,
A true autumnal sound.

I hear the feathered thunder of the grouse
Rolling through the woods,
Or pause to note where burrowing mole or mouse
Just stirs the solitude.

Listen—the furtive flock-call of the quail
Comes up from bending trees,
Beyond, the mellow thrud of lonely rail
Its homely music yields.

Behold the orchards piled with painted spheres
New plucked from bending trees,
And bronzed huskers tossing golden ears
In genial sun and breeze.

Once more the tranquil days brood o'er the hills
And soothe the earth's tolling breast;
A benediction all the landscape fills
That breathes of peace and rest.
—John Burroughs in New York Times.

English Homes.

It is a curious fact that the most artistic modern houses in England are those of the very wealthy and the very poor. The rich are building their own, and the poor in a few favored places are having theirs built for them, and in their different ways they are the nearest approach in England to model homes.
